- On 24 January 1947 Koval, chief of SMA Industry Division, informed the Presidents and Vice-Presidents of the Central Administrations of Industry, Trade and Supply, Transportation, and Fuel that Marshal Sokolovsky has ordered that the Central Administrations be given a greater measure of independence. The Central Administrations are to receive the power to issue directives to the provinces and states.
- The Central Administration of Industry and the states are to have full responsibility for the following branches of industry: chemicals, pharmaceuticals, building materials, rubber and asbestos, wood, light industry (shoes and leather), cultural wares (Kulturwaren), and medical instruments.
- The Central Administration of Trade and Supply is to have full responsibility for the food industry. The Central Administration of Industry is responsible for opening up auxiliary sources of raw materials, distributing raw materials, drawing up and supervising the execution of plans and all measures for increased production.
- According to Koval, Sokolovsky is of the opinion that the Central Administrations in the Russian Zone function better and more efficiently than in the other zones. Sokolovsky also told Koval that further developments in the Central Administrations are expected and that this will be considered in the future shaping of Germany.
